

Multi-Housing News about Mr. Bamboo

Published: December 17, 2007

The sustainability, durability and natural appearance of strand woven bamboo flooring are an ideal choice for residences. The harvested bamboo fibers are compressed into strands under intense cold pressure. A heat-sensitive low-VOC (volatile organic compounds) adhesive is applied, which produces the strand woven look that is rich in texture.

One of the hardest flooring products available, each finished piece of bamboo has a slightly unique grain with a strikingly elegant appearance. During this process, all the harvested bamboo is used, eliminating wastage, making strand woven bamboo flooring one of the most environmentally friendly and green flooring products available.

Mr. Bamboo offers bamboo flooring in two colors: amber-coffee, or a natural-blond color (pictured); these come with a vertical or horizontal grain. The coffee color is the carbonated fiber color after high-temperature and high-pressure treatment. It is not a painted-on color, so it will never fade away.
